THE Hertford College Magazine is started with one main object in view: to promote a greater sense of College patriotism, College interest, and College unity, among both present and past Hertford College men.

The three main divisions will for the present be:

1. College Notes, mainly on current events, but including information about the buildings and history of the College.
2. News about past members of the College.
3. Solid contributions, whether essays or descriptions of the experiences of Hertford men in all parts of the world.

These divisions are suggested for trial, but will be liable to modification according to the advice of our correspondents and the experience of the Committee. So far as finances allow, illustrations will be freely supplied.

It is proposed to bring out the Magazine twice a year—in May and November.

The May number will chronicle the Athletic Sports, Football News, and the Torpids.

The November number will include a list of the Freshmen, the events of the Summer Term, Commemoration, and the Long Vacation, with any notes which the commencement of the academical year may suggest.

What proportion of literary matter the Magazine may contain will depend upon the support we receive, but one thing is clear from the past history of School and College papers, that no periodical which depends exclusively or even chiefly on literary matter can hope for a prolonged existence.

We trust that the Hertford College Magazine will have a long and prosperous career, and prove to be of great benefit to the life and welfare of the College, and so we dedicate the First Number to all Hertford College men, past and present.

HENRY BOYD, Principal.

College Notes.

Owing to the death of His Majesty King Edward VII, it has been decided to abandon the College Ball, which was to have taken place in Commemoration Week on Tuesday, June 21st.

One of the first members to be elected to the new Parliament at the General Election in January was Lord Hugh Cecil, Fellow of Hertford, who was returned unopposed as one of the Members for Oxford University. Mr. E. N. Bennett, also a Fellow of the College, stood for the Woodstock Division of Oxfordshire, which he had represented in the previous Parliament, but was unsuccessful. He intends, however, to stand again at the next Election.

Hearty congratulations to Mr. J. C. V. Behan, B.C.L., who in October last was elected to the Stowell Fellowship at University College. Mr. Behan has won many distinctions at Oxford, but he must find this the most satisfactory of them all, for few positions in the University number among their past holders so many famous men as does the Stowell Fellowship. To the current number of The Oxford and Cambridge Review Mr. Behan has contributed an article on the Rhodes Scholars, which raises the question whether the Colonies and the United States have given us of their best. Mr. Behan is inclined to think that they have, but in some quarters there is a tendency to answer this question in the negative. Hertford, however, has no ground for complaint. We have had Rhodes Scholars from all quarters of the world, and they have almost invariably taken a prominent part in the College's life. Even if they have not on the whole done brilliantly in the Schools, Mr. Behan himself is a splendid exception.

Lord Kilbracken of Kallegar, formerly Sir Arthur Godley, G.C.B., K.C.B., who was raised to the Peerage upon his retirement at the end of last year from the post of Secretary of State for India, which he had held since 1883, has been elected an Honorary Fellow of the College. He was a Fellow of Hertford from 1874-1881.

Congratulations to Mr. B. C. Allchin, M.A., on his election to the Presidency of the Oxford University Musical Club. Mr. Allchin has worked extremely hard, and with the most gratifying success, to make Hertford recognized as one of the most musical colleges in the University, and we feel that the fact of his being asked to accept the important office of President of the Musical Club is a very great compliment, not only to himself, but to the College with which he is so closely connected. His election has been very popular in the Club itself, and it is said that the series of programmes arranged by him for this term is one of record excellence.

Congratulations to O. G. R. Williams, B.A., on his election to the Aubrey Moore Studentship, of the value of £60, and to H. Wallis, B.A., on obtaining the University Geographical Scholarship.

Congratulations to R. Bevir on his election as Junior Librarian at the Union. We hear that he worked particularly hard at electioneering work during the vacation in several places, and especially in Bradford and the Harrow Division of Middlesex.

C. H. Gidney has this year served as Secretary to the O.U. Golf Club, and again represented Oxford in the University Match. He had been showing excellent form all the season, and was most unlucky in failing to bring off his very best against Cambridge.

In February last the College entered a team for the Inter-College Relay Race, instituted this year for the first time. We were beaten in the first round by B.N.C., but in view of the fact that B.N.C. eventually won in the final, and that our defeat was only a matter of fifteen or twenty yards, our performance was by no means discreditable. The team was as follows: G. T. Gravell, 220 yards; F. R. Doré, 220 yards; R. L. Hardy, 440 yards; A. H. Clerke, 220 yards; R. D. Clarke, 880 yards. Practically all these will be up for the race next year, and with a little luck and sufficient training should stand a very fair chance of winning.

Congratulations to R. D. Clarke, who won a full running 'Blue' by competing as Oxford's first string in the Mile at the University Sports in March.

Two members of the College have lately had the worst of luck in just missing 'Blues.' In the first place, A. Chandler was chosen to run in the Varsity Cross-country team against Cambridge, but was prevented from actually competing by an injury to his knee: while J. H. Driberg, after the most strenuous training, succeeded in winning the Varsity Heavy-Weights Boxing Competition, but was not chosen to box against Cambridge.

Congratulations to E. H. H. Woodward and G. T. Gravell on playing Rugger for the Varsity on several occasions last term. Both of them seem to have made an excellent impression, so we may hope for more 'Blues' next term.

M. G. Salter is again playing Cricket for the Varsity, and has made an excellent start in the first trial match. He is also captaining the College Cricket Team, while the Hon. Sec. is J. W. Rowlands. It is too early at present to offer any prophecies as to the success of the season, but there is every possibility that it will be considerably above the average.

G. T. Garratt is Captain and F. C. Light is Hon. Sec. of the College Lawn Tennis Club. Up to the time of writing one match has been won and one lost, while several have been scratched owing to bad weather.

During the last two years a wave of military enthusiasm has passed over Oxford, and nowhere has it been more in evidence than in Hertford. Whereas three years ago a couple of rifles resided undisturbed in the College Armoury, to-day fully one-third of the available members of the College belong to the Officers' Training Corps. The credit for this belongs to H. G. Evan Jones, who has worked with untiring energy to imbue the College with the spirit of his future profession, and it is sincerely to be hoped that, though he must depart, his work will survive.

The College Literary, Debating and other Societies have always been spasmodic in their energies, and are now passing through a period of reaction. The most regular are the Shakespeare Society, which, by the way, since finishing Shakespeare has gone on to other things, and the Harts Sailing Club, which only pretends to meet once a year. A revival of the other Societies is supposed to be imminent. It seems a pity that the Fox at any rate should not meet regularly. Its debates used to attract an audience critical but kindly, before which many who have since become famous speakers made their maiden efforts, while in the days when Mr. Bennett, the mythical founder of the Society, used to attend its meetings the debates certainly were not dull.

It is one of the sorrows of a small College that it can never prosper simultaneously in all the activities for which an Oxford College is called upon. This is very noticeable in our own case. When the Rigger team is doing well, the Soccer team is pretty certain to be doing indifferently—and vice versa. We are usually well represented at one of the two games, but practically never at both. Similarly, the successes on land with which Hertford entered upon the twentieth century were accompanied by a descent upon the river, the memory of which has still to be wiped out. The Torpid has, however, begun to move in the right direction, and whither Torpids lead, Eights have a way of following. Meanwhile, we comfort ourselves with the thought that in one sphere the College has for long pursued a career of quiet but undisturbed success. There are only four or five colleges which can claim to do better than we do in the Schools, and that is a record of which we may be proud.

We may also comfort ourselves with the thought that there is no reason why in the future success in one activity should entail mediocrity in others. Hertford's great difficulty in the past has been lack of space, for the number of a college's members is necessarily proportionate to the housing capacity of its buildings. In spite of geographical limitations, this difficulty is being overcome. Four additional sets of rooms in the New Buildings were opened for use at the end of 1908, and eight more at the end of 1909. Altogether the New Buildings now shelter three Fellows and thirty-two undergraduates, while the east wing reaches nearly to Holywell, on which the College will eventually have a front. A bridge between the old and the new remains a thing of the future.

The new Chapel continues to win admiration, and the organ and its case are now complete. It is impossible to estimate the debt of the present and all future members of Hertford to the Principal for the loving care with which he has superintended the Chapel's growth. His interest in buildings seems indeed to be insatiable, and he has lately been keeping a fatherly eye on the new electrical laboratory—the second splendid gift to the University of the Drapers' Company, with which the Principal has so long been connected.

As frontispiece to this first number of the Magazine we present a photograph of the West End of the New Chapel. The photograph was taken by G. H. King.

Hertford has not usually been regarded as one of the show colleges, though the Quad. has always delighted those who have had the enterprise to look beyond our somewhat austere front. But nowadays the Chapel is becoming so famous that the local guides, who used to dismiss Hertford in a single sentence, have found it necessary to add a new speech to their repertoire and to extend their itinerary. This is a mixed blessing, but we may set against it the great though very secular advantages which have resulted from the evacuation of the Old Chapel, which, by the abolition of the 'horse box' and the addition of a gallery, has been converted into a very serviceable Library. There is room in it for a surprisingly large number of books, and tables have been provided for the accommodation of readers, who are now admitted at most hours of the day.

Meanwhile, the Old Library has also been put to good use. Hertford has long felt the need of a room of convenient size for small lectures and large dinners. In the past the Junior Common Room was often not quite sufficient for the latter purpose, and one never felt perfect confidence in the lasting powers of its floor. The Old Library has now been fitted out so as once again to fulfil its still older function of dining-room, when such a room is required for club or private dinners. In the day-time it serves as a lecture room.

Everyone will be glad to hear that Mr. C. N. Jackson, whose health was recently so bad, is now much fitter. He has, however, for the last two years restricted himself to bursarial work, and of the tutorial work which he used to do, a great part has lately been in the hands of another old Hertford man—Mr. G. R. Brewis.

In October, Hertford welcomed a new Chaplain in the Rev. J. McL. Campbell, formerly of Marlborough and Balliol, where he matriculated in 1903. After taking his degree, he devoted a year to travelling round the world. He is already a quite indispensable institution. He also enjoys the distinction of being the only Chaplain in Oxford who is an expert on the concertina.

The Rev. H. H. Williams is Select Preacher to the University this year. •

To many Joe Pullen is probably familiar only as the man who gave his name to a tree on Headington Hill, but readers of the College history are aware that two centuries ago the grand old man ruled for fifty-seven years (no less) as Vice-Principal of Magdalen Hall. We regret to announce that in the autumn some person or persons maliciously burnt down the stump which was all that remained of the tree which he used to visit daily during his long vice-principate. It is to be hoped that a new tree planted on its site will preserve the old name.

We seem to remember reading somewhere an article on 'Pets,' which pointed out the educational value of companionship with dumb animals. Emphasis was laid on the power such creatures have of softening our bad temper and encouraging our sympathetic instincts. This side of our education has been neglected ever since the mysterious disappearance of the College cat, whose place has at last been filled by the introduction of a tortoise family into the Quad. Students of culture may now be seen at all hours of the day having their bad tempers softened and their sympathetic instincts encouraged. We are asked to contradict the rumour that the new College pets were introduced by the Dean with a view to encouraging trespassers on the grass.

HERTFORD COLLEGE BOAT CLUB.

1909-10.

R. Bevir is Captain and H. C. B. Jollye Hon. Secretary.

THE TORPID.

The following was the composition of the Torpid:—

			st.	lb.
Bow.	J. E. Smith	11	0
2.	W. B. Brett	10	1
3.	C. W. David	10	9
4.	C. H. Payton	11	8
5.	R. C. H. Kingdon	13	1
6.	G. E. Owen	11	1½
7.	J. G. Heink	10	6
Str.	C. J. S. Wright	10	4½
Cox.	R. H. Pridham	9	3½

During the practice before the races the Torpid did not develop any great pace, until the last three days. Then they rapidly improved, losing an ugly hang over the stretcher, which had been impairing the speed of the boat. On the first day of the racing they were rather needlessly bumped by Christ Church II, whom they pressed on subsequent days. On the Tuesday they bumped New College II by the Free Ferry, and on the next day Exeter in just the same place. But for their unfortunate inability to pull themselves together after what might have been an innocuous crab, they would doubtless have risen more than one place: but they certainly did far better than might have been expected from their appearance during some stages of practice. No one individual stood out prominently, but all worked hard, and they showed racing capacities which no one who saw them row over on the last Saturday would ever have dreamed of. Their pursuit of Christ Church II. was most plucky, and so was their race with Worcester behind them.

THE EIGHT.

It is too early at present to offer any effective criticism of the Eight. To attempt to prophesy success would be but to court the disappointment of previous years. A boat that looks very pretty paddling very often cannot race. That has too often been the case. At any rate, the Eight is fortunate to have secured Mr. V. Hope, of St. John's, who has kindly promised to coach it for the last fortnight. If they can get the same improvement in rowing, as they have in paddling in the last few days, we shall hope for the best.

The crew at present is composed as follows:—

- Bow. C. W. David.
- 2. G. E. Owen.
- 3. C. H. Payton.
- 4. C. J. S. Wright.
- 5. R. C. H. Kingdon.
- 6. R. Bevir.
- 7. J. G. Heink.
- Str. J. N. Smith.
- Cox. E. S. Wood.

and, barring accidents, they will probably race in that order.

THE BARGE.

It is impossible in any account of the river to leave without mention the subject of the Barge. It cannot be doubted that it is (metaphorically speaking) on its last legs. It is extremely inconvenient to have to take so many precautions for the safety, and to make so many arrangements for the accommodation, of visitors during Eights' Week. It was a constant trouble last year. The winter has done its work fairly efficiently in putting on the final touches of debility. The result is that its condition is (to say the least) rocky. Steps will have to be taken very shortly to settle the best means of building a new Barge. It has got to come some time: the sooner the better. Let us only express a hope that the old Barge will survive until the new one arrives.

The above team may be looked upon as an ideal which was seldom realized. In the Michaelmas Term, owing to injuries and other causes, we turned out a full side perhaps twice; in the Hilary Term never. We were rather unfortunate in playing Cheltenham so early in the season, when we had only had one match, and had not yet got together: yet we should probably not have done badly but for a series of accidents. At half-time the score was 6 points to nil against us, and then Gravell had to retire with a sprained ankle. Then Evans was damaged twice, and Rivington also was off the field for a time, so that at one period of the game we were playing with only twelve men. Naturally we became completely demoralized and were walked over.

On the whole, the side showed an improvement on last season's form, at any rate during the Michaelmas Term. The tackling was much better outside: the forwards took a very long time to get together, but improved considerably towards the end of the Term, and at Bedford, where the whole side played above form, indulged in some combined rushes which were quite refreshing. On the other hand, the team occasionally gave an absolutely hopeless exhibition, as, for instance, when we lost to Worcester, who were not really a better side, by 20 points.

In the Hilary Term, besides the inertia that prevails at that time, we were greatly weakened outside by the loss of Greenhow and Rivington. Most matches were scratched, but of the six played we only won one.

The best thing to be said of the team is that if we can only get one or two outsides, it promises fairly well for next season. All the forwards will be up, and they should become quite a good pack, as they possess weight, and some of them a certain amount of pace. What is wanted is better training and more combination.

HERTFORD COLLEGE ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL CLUB.

SEASON 1909-10.

TEAM.—*R. Bevir (goal); *J. Grundy (Capt.), R. C. Giles (backs); *H. C. Joyce, *J. F. Hughes, *W. E. Rhydderch (halves); *R. C. H. Kingdon, A. L. Brodrick, *C. H. Payton (Hon. Sec.), F. W. Hobbs, G. E. Owen (forwards).

Also played.—E. W. Carroll, R. L. Hardy, C. J. Forder, D. L. Russell, L. A. Russell, W. T. Evans, R. G. Marriott, N. F. Mather, F. S. Cragg, &c.

The team as given above represents what it was with little change during the Michaelmas Term, and what it might have been throughout the Hilary Term had not rowing claimed four of its members.

As a whole, the season was not a success from the League point of view, and a glance at the League table, if such could be obtained, would show that the College occupies a position in about the middle of the third division. But it cannot be said that 'Soccer' is on its way to becoming extinct in the College. Whilst the difficulty of raising a team was always present, there were yet a few who played consistently on every occasion possible, and a team of keen regular players has been the object in view.

Of the more important matches, the Cup tie against New College takes precedence. The result was unfortunately inevitable (1-5), but it was gratifying to keep the score level all until a moment before half-time, and the whole team worked very hard against a much better side. The match against Malvern was a fast game, and the result (0-4) fairly represented the play. At Radley, by a mistake in the timing, each half was at least 52 minutes long, and this no doubt had great influence on the result (0—5). After the descent to League III in the Hilary Term the conflicting interests of the various members of the team made it extremely difficult to put a representative team in the field. Superfluity of bad weather also caused a postponement of the majority of League games till the last fortnight of Term, when 'Mods.' also claimed their, or its, share of the team.

With the exception of J. F. Hughes, who proved a most capable and energetic centre-half, all the members of the team will be available next year. It is rumoured that two, if not more, of the Freshmen are good players.

At a meeting held at the end of last Term, C. H. Payton was elected Captain, and R. C. H. Kingdon Hon. Secretary for next season.

HERTFORD COLLEGE HOCKEY CLUB.

SEASON 1909-10.

TEAM.—J. F. Hughes (goal), M. G. Salter, F. R. Doré (backs); G. T. Gravell, H. C. Joyce (Hon. Sec.), W. E. H. Rhydderch (half-backs), W. T. Evans, R. C. Ozanne, G. S. Rivington (Capt.), J. F. Thornhill, R. W. Thornhill.
Also played.—F. C. T. Woodhead, A. P. B. Woodd, J. Grundy, H. M. Blackett, L. A. Russell, J. C. West, E. N. Greenhow, J. F. Madeley, E. H. H. Woodward.

The hockey season of 1909-10 was for Hertford a very mixed one: sometimes, especially in the earlier part of the season, the whole team played together with a useful knowledge of one another's play, while in the latter part 'crossings off' became very common, with the inevitable result of a list of lost matches. In addition to this lack of keenness, several members of the Club were 'crooked,' while others went down in December.

In the Michaelmas Term the record was on the whole good—played 15, won 8, lost 6, drawn 1—and might easily have been better still, as two or three of the matches were only lost by an odd goal scored in the last minutes of the game. Perhaps the wins against New College and the Graduates provided the best games and the most creditable achievements.

In the Hilary Term a series of misfortunes befell the team, with the result that the whole side had to be re-arranged. To begin with, the left wing—Greenhow and Madeley, who did so well together in the previous Term—went down, and then Rivington, our centre-forward and captain, was prevented from playing for the first month through an accident to his knee sustained in the Vac. To crown all this came the news that Oriel—probably the best side in Oxford—were to be our opponents in the first round of the ‘coppers.’ It is not, therefore, surprising that we should only have won two matches, as against seven losses, Lincoln being the victims in both cases.

In out-matches we were distinctly unlucky all through: in Michaelmas Term we lost to Reading University, after leading for the greater part of the game, while in Easter Term the matches arranged against St. John’s College, Cambridge, and Poole Hockey Club both fell through, the last through inability to obtain a ground.

Our history of ‘coppers’ is short if not sweet. Drawn against Oriel in the first round, we succumbed by 10 goals to nil. Strange as it may sound, this was quite our best performance of the term, as, besides possessing four Blues, they were decidedly strong in every department. In no game did our defence show up better than in this; indeed, it was simply a question of how often our defence could repel their attack, as our forwards never got away from the two Varsity backs, Lagden and Lowe.

Turning from matches to players, Hughes always played well in goal, when he was not wanted to fill up gaps in the forward line, and was at times quite brilliant. Woodhead, his understudy, was good and bad by turns: when he was good, he was very good, but when he was bad— At back, Salter was very safe indeed, and his cricket strokes invaluable, while Doré seemed to go off as the season went on, but this was probably due to his being moved about to make room for Rivington at back. The halves generally worked very hard, and were frequently mainly responsible for the success of the side, Gravell being especially good during the latter part of the season.

The attack was perhaps never so good collectively as the defence, but at the earlier part of the season it was quite useful. Greenhow and Madeley were a great loss, as they played well together, and combined with the rest of the line. Ozanne was always speedy and ready to get away at centre and outside right: it was our misfortune that he was not available for the 'cupper.' Rivington at centre-forward was full of dash, while his shooting was far above that of any other member of the team. Perhaps we only realised how much we depended on him for goals when he was 'crocked.' The Thornhills showed varied form: on some days, and notably against Lincoln, they were practically irresistible on the right wing, while on other days they seemed to think that the game consisted in seeing on how many of their opponents they could turn at once! However, with some practice they should make a very good wing. Evans, on the left, often did well, but he should learn that useless hitting about from one wing to the other is not part of the game.

On the whole, the season was a great improvement on the previous year, and of course next season is to be better still, though Salter and Rivington will be great losses.

ATHLETIC SPORTS.

The Hertford College Athletic Sports were held on Tuesday, November 16th, 1909. There was unfortunately rather a lack of interest displayed in them, partly as the result of the bad weather, and partly because an important 'soccer' cup match was in progress in the adjoining ground. The number of entries was only moderate, and considerably more than half of those who did enter their names scratched off before the races. C. N. Jackson, Esq., acted as Referee, W. B. Riddell, Esq., and Rev. W. J. Carey as Judges: R. D. Clarke was Secretary, while the Committee consisted of M. G. Salter, E. H. Woodward, J. N. Smith, G. S. Rivington, and A. Chandler. With the exception of those in the Mile and Half-Mile, none of the times or distances were at all out of the ordinary, and in many cases fell considerably short of the average. Such a state of things is hardly a credit to the College, and it is to be hoped that next year more keenness will be displayed. Results:—

100 YARDS.—1, E. S. Wood; 2, R. C. H. Kingdon. Time 11½ sec.

PUTTING THE WEIGHT.—1, S. G. Kriegler; 2, M. G. Salter. Distance 30 ft. 6 in.

HALF-MILE HANDICAP.—1, R. D. Clarke, pen. 20 yds.; 2, R. L. Hardy, scr.; 3, G. E. Owen, 5 yds. Time 2 min. 10½ sec.

BROAD JUMP.—1, G. S. Rivington; 2, C. S. Payton. Distance 18 ft. 5 in.

QUARTER-MILE HANDICAP.—1, G. S. Rivington, pen. 10 yds.; 2, F. R. Doré, scr. Time 58½ sec.

HIGH JUMP.—1, E. W. Carroll. Height 4 ft. 6 in.

200 YARDS (FRESHMEN'S RACE).—1, R. L. Hardy; 2, E. W. Carroll.

ONE MILE HANDICAP.—1, A. Chandler, 30 yds.; 2, J. A. Kirby, 120 yds.; 3, G. E. Cardew, 130 yds. Time 4 min. 45 sec.

120 YARDS HURDLE RACE.—1, R. C. H. Kingdon; 2, G. E. Owen.

150 YARDS BOATING MEN'S HANDICAP.—1, E. S. Wood, 5 yds.; 2, R. C. H. Kingdon, 3 yds.; 3, C. H. Payton, scr.

HERTFORD DETACHMENT.

STRENGTH.—The strength of the detachment has gone up very fairly during the past year. Last year the cavalry strength was 1 cadet, the infantry 1 officer, 4 N.C.O.'s and 16 cadets: this year the cavalry strength is 1 N.C.O. and 3 cadets, the infantry 1 officer, 4 N.C.O.'s and 25 cadets.

CERTIFICATES.—Certificate 'A' has been obtained by four members, and 'B' by one.

FIELD DAYS.—The detachment has always been well represented during the past year, on some occasions better than that of any other college.

VICTORIA CUP.—A team of eight entered for the Victoria Cup, and did very fairly, being placed about 5th.

BOURNE CUP.—It is intended to enter a team for the Bourne Cup on June 3rd, and if the members of the detachment will turn out regularly to early morning parades this term at 7.15, there is no reason why this cup should not be won. The representative team will consist of between 20 and 25 men, and will be judged in the following subjects:—

Dress and General Turn Out ..	40 marks.
Rifle Exercises	"
Company Drill	"
Extended Movements	"
Control of Fire	"
Total ..	200 marks.

SMOKING CONCERTS.—During the last two Terms the detachment have started holding terminal smoking concerts, to which a certain number of guests have been invited.

(i.) Wednesday, Oct. 20th.—Col. J. C. B. Eastwood kindly attended, and made an excellent speech. A sing-song, &c., followed.

(ii.) Thursday, Feb. 25th.—The detachment first dined together in Hall, and then adjourned to a most successful wine and sing-song. Excellent speeches were made by 2nd Lieut. Torr, 2nd Lieut. Atkinson, 2nd Lieut. Whatley, and the Dean.

Only three members of the detachment show any signs of going down at the end of this Term, so that if next year's Freshmen can be induced to join in good numbers, the College ought to be able to turn out its half company.

Too much stress cannot be laid upon the importance of taking the certificates, which, apart from the lucrative point of view, afford enormous advantages to those who intend joining any of His Majesty's forces after leaving Oxford.

H. G. EVAN-JONES, Sergt., O.U.O.T.C.

On Tuesday, May 10th, the detachment turned out in record strength for the Proclamation of King George V. There was only one absentee.

The detachment went to Windsor on May 20th to attend the funeral of the late King, with the exception of Lance-Sergt. J. H. Driberg, who was one of the 17 chosen to represent the O.U.O.T.C. in the funeral procession in London.

Smoking Concert.

The Smoking Concert was held in Hall on Thursday, November 25th, 1909, and, both socially and financially, proved an entire success. An excellent programme had been arranged, and the support shown was most gratifying. With hardly an exception, the whole College was present, together with a much larger number of guests than usual, so that the Hall was practically full.

Mr. Lomas was in as fine form as ever, and was, as always, most fortunate in his choice of songs, all of which were much appreciated: Mr. John Morgan gave us some of his most characteristic songs: while Mr. Selwyn Driver was again inimitably funny, and, by special request, repeated those of his songs and sketches which had made the greatest 'hits' last year. The band was that of the 4th Battalion Oxfordshire Light Infantry (by kind permission of Colonel Ames), and was conducted by Bandmaster H. Taylor. The whole programme was performed, thanks to the admirable management of the Stewards and Committee, without the least hitch of any kind, and all present thoroughly enjoyed themselves.

The officers were as follows: Stewards, W. B. Riddell, Esq., N. Whatley, Esq., R. G. Marriott, M. G. Salter, W. F. Davies, E. H. Woodward, J. Grundy; Committee, J. N. Smith, R. Bevir, G. T. Garratt, H. C. B. Jollye, J. W. Rowlands.

Musical News.

The record of the College's musical activities may fairly be said to be one of unqualified success. During the past two years, thanks mainly to the generosity of the Principal, and to the energy of Mr. Allchin and its first Secretary, B. Hartley, the Choir has become firmly established as a permanent College institution, and the progress which it has made during this short time is nothing short of marvellous. The reason is obvious: it has been and is managed on a thoroughly businesslike basis, and there are few things which businesslike management, combined with enthusiasm, cannot achieve. The composition of the Choir is unique: the choristers are now absolutely our own, while the men's voices are entirely those of members of the College, unassisted, except on occasions such as are described below, by any professionals whatever. This is not, we believe, the case at any other college in Oxford.

When the new Chapel and the new organ were built, it was felt that advantage should be taken to set about learning something of really great choral works. Accordingly, at the end of Michaelmas Term, 1908, a short selection from Bach's 'Christmas Oratorio' was sung. From this small beginning, in the following Term the Choir went on to Bach's 'Passion' (according to St. Matthew), and it is noteworthy that this is the first college choir in Oxford to attempt this magnificent work alone, perhaps the most dramatic music in existence. The results were so encouraging that in December, 1909, a larger part of the 'Christmas Oratorio' was sung, the soloists being Mr. Charles Child and Mr. Francis Harford. Mr. Henry Ley, the Cathedral organist, accompanied, leaving Mr. Allchin free to conduct, and Mr. Marchant, of Lincoln, assisted as alto. The success of the rendering was certainly the result of hard work, but the numerous practices were well attended, the Choir showing real keenness, and the enthusiasm of Mr. Allchin carrying everyone along with it.

In the Hilary Term of this year the Choir returned to the St. Matthew 'Passion,' adding to last year's selection, and singing the greater part of the work. Mr. Child again sang the part of the Evangelist, and Mr. Greaves Johnson, of St. Paul's Cathedral, that of Christus. Mr. Ley and Mr. Marchant again helped us. The general criticism of the whole rendering was extremely favourable, and the large number of people who came to hear it is a sufficient proof of the interest that the musical doings of the College arouse in Oxford.

Quite distinct from, although including, the Chapel Choir, there was formed last Term a College Musical Society, for the encouragement of instrumental as well as vocal music. This Society meets weekly, under the direction of Mr. Allchin, to practise madrigals and part-songs, and occasionally varies the practices by holding 'instrumental nights,' when solos are performed instead of part-songs. At present there is rather a lack of tenors, and there seems a danger of the bass voices swamping the rest.

(It is interesting to note that some years ago there existed a Hertford College Musical Society, of which the original conductor was Mr. (afterward Dr.) Charles Harford Lloyd, and of which one of the earliest members was our present Bursar, Mr. C. N. Jackson.)

On February 28th, the Society gave a highly successful concert to the rest of the College. Mr. Marchant, of Lincoln College, an honorary member of the Society, came to help us, and Mr. W. A. Pickard-Cambridge, of Magdalen, and the Rev. W. J. Carey, of Pusey House, contributed solos on the pianoforte and violin respectively. Mr. John Morgan, a recent member of the College, sang the solos of Stanford's Cavalier Songs. A feature of the evening was the concertina solo by the Rev. J. McL. Campbell, the Chaplain, which effectually dispelled any popular idea that the concertina is not a musical instrument, the tone being wonderfully clear and refined, and the whole effect most artistic. Nearly all the part-songs were sung unaccompanied, without the slightest loss of 'pitch.'

The full programme was as follows:—

- | | | | | | |
|---------------------|----|--|----|----|-----------------------|
| 1. PART-SONG | .. | 'Full fathom five' | .. | .. | C. Wood. |
| 2. SONG | .. | 'Out on the deep' | .. | .. | F. Löhr. |

News of Past Members of the College.

The chief object of a College Magazine should be to keep past members in touch with the College and with one another. Something of the kind seems particularly necessary at Hertford, which still feels the effects of the newness of its foundation. At any rate, a smaller proportion of graduates keep their names on the books here than elsewhere. We cannot claim that the news of past members contained in this number is as exhaustive as it must in future be if the above-mentioned object is to be fulfilled. But it is hard to start a column of this kind, for there is no register of the doings of Hertford men which can be used as a starting-point. In this number we give the present occupation of a more or less arbitrarily selected list of past members. In time we hope to make this section as far as possible a complete account of the chief doings of past members during the preceding half-year. Every effort will be made to collect information here, but we shall inevitably depend very largely on the willingness of subscribers to keep us supplied with news about themselves and their contemporaries.

GENERAL.

Elsewhere we refer to the fortunes of Fellows of the College at the General Election. Another Hertford candidate was A. H. J. Cochrane, who unsuccessfully contested the Tyneside Division of Northumberland in the Unionist interest. Both he and J. Meade Falkner hold important posts with Armstrong's, of Elswick, and the two are also alike in being prominent in more than one sphere of life. The former is a politician, the latter is a novelist, and the latest generation of Hertford men may not all be aware that in his first novel, The Lost Stradivarius, the College played a part.

E. V. Bacon was for a time Assistant Private Secretary to Mr. W. H. Long, M.P., and is now working for the Central Conservative Association.

A. R. Chavasse is at St. Thomas' Hospital.

A. L. F. Forder has returned to Pietermaritzburg.

W. R. Gaskell is sheep-farming in Wigtonshire.

A. M. Hollins is in cotton—at Horrocks', Preston. He is a shot and a fisherman.

C. H. Labouchere is on the Stock Exchange.

H. F. Smith, after ranching in Canada for a few years, took to medicine, and is now House Physician at Edinburgh.

• • • •

UNIVERSITY.

J. C. V. Behan was in October last elected Stowell Fellow of University College.

The Rev. K. D. Mackenzie, Fellow and Dean of Pembroke College, is leaving Oxford at the end of this Term for parochial work.

So is the Rev. P. J. Kirkby, Fellow of New College. But he is setting up a private laboratory, so that research will not lose him.

The Rev. W. J. Carey is now Librarian of Pusey House, and is the most widely known graduate in Oxford.

We regret to hear that, owing to ill-health, H. H. Furniss has been temporarily compelled to give up his work at Ruskin College.

G. R. Brewis is a Lecturer at Hertford. When the weather is warm, he still sometimes turns out for the College second cricket eleven. He shoots and fishes, and has a splendid collection of birds' eggs.

F. G. Plummer is Demonstrator at the University Observatory, and since his return from America has written a great number of papers on astronomical subjects.

ECCLESIASTICAL.

To the April number of The East and the West the Rev. W. G. Boyd contributes an article on 'The New Mission in Western Canada' (i.e. The Archbishops' Mission), in which he urges that the Church of England has a special responsibility to British peoples. He has himself gone out to Canada, where his centre will be Edmonton, Alberta. Meanwhile, the Rev. E. Salisbury Jose has been in Australia since his ordination in 1905, and is in charge of five churches in the hills near Adelaide. He is at the present moment looking out for a curate.

The Rev. P. A. Micklem has also just left England for Australia.

The Rev. F. R. Bonsey has left Forest School, and is now Curate of Northaw, Herts.

The Rev. H. H. Burgess is Curate at Abbots' Langley.

The Rev. G. C. R. Cooke is Curate of St. Columba's, Sunderland.

The Rev. F. Freeman is Curate of St. German's, Routh, Cardiff.

The Rev. E. Rhys Jones (formerly of St. Luke's, Reigate) has been appointed Rector of Mottingham, Kent.

The Rev. T. Simcox Lea (formerly Rector of Penkevil) has been appointed Vicar of St. Austell, Cornwall.

The Rev. B. N. Miles is an S.P.G. Missionary at Yokohama.

J. Morgan is at Cuddesdon Theological College.

The Rev. J. H. N. Taylor has been appointed Domestic and Examining Chaplain to the Bishop of Norwich.

The Rev. L. A. Wells has accepted the post of Private Chaplain to Sir Thomas Dyke Acland. An article by him will appear in the next number of The East and the West.

LEGAL.

C. V. Carlisle, S. A. Gáwith and F. L. Steward are articled in solicitors' offices in London.

K. Gatey was called to the Bar (Middle Temple) on April 20th, 1910.

W. M. Hughes-Hughes is practising at the Bar (South-Eastern Circuit).

G. B. Orr is reading for the Bar.

F. G. Tupper is reading for the Canadian Bar in Vancouver, B.C.

CIVIL SERVICE, &c.

Last summer C.S. Examination was remarkable for the fact that no Hertford man figured among the successful. This cannot have happened previously for a number of years. Our average lately has been two to three successes per annum, and it is noticeable that a very large proportion of these have obtained appointments in the Home C.S. Among the more recent of these are:—

Admiralty.—J. E. Masterton-Smith (Private Secretary to the First Lord).

Colonial Office.—T. C. Macnaghten, E. J. Harding, and H. F. Batterbee.

House of Commons.—G. F. M. Campion (Journal Office).

Inland Revenue.—H. P. Hamilton and W. V. Bradford.

Post Office.—G. O. Wood (Secretary's Office), A. O. Spafford (Harrogate), J. T. Foxell (Canterbury), D. J. Lidbury (Exeter), and W. R. Storr (Aberdeen).

Treasury.—R. S. Meiklejohn (Private Secretary to Mr. Asquith).

War Office.—H. C. Gordon (Finance Department).

In India, as far as we know, only five recent members of Hertford hold posts in the C.S. G. L. Corbett and E. D. Farran are Assistant Commissioners in the Central Provinces. T. Luby and J. R. Dain, who was invalided home last summer, are Assistant Magistrates and Collectors in Bengal. A. S. A.

Gilbert is Assistant Commissioner in Burma. In the Educational Department, C. Russell is Professor in Patna College, Bombay, R. G. Grieve is Vice-Principal of the Teachers' College at Sudapet, and H. N. Randle is Professor of English Literature and Philosophy at Muir Central College, Agra and Oudh.

As to Egypt and the Soudan, no member of Hertford has been among the successful Oxford candidates for the C.S. since A. T. Lloyd and J. D. Craig. E. R. J. Hussey has been since 1908 in the Sudan Government Education Department at Khartum, where H. C. Squires has also been working in the medical service. A. E. J. Hazel is in the Finance Department, and C. S. Hurst, who is attached to the Observatory at Helnar, has recently been engaged on the magnetic survey of the Sudanese-Egyptian frontier district. G. D. Day is shortly returning to England.

J. M. Freemantle is British Resident in N. Nigeria and a shooter of big game.

J. B. Scrivener is Government Geologist to the Malay States.

E. G. Morris is Assistant District Commissioner in Uganda.

C. E. Ward has lately gone out as Assistant District Commissioner to Kismaya, Jubaland.

EDUCATIONAL.

We have been endeavouring to draw up a list of Hertford men who are masters at the Public Schools, and should like to hear of additions to the following:—

Blundell's School.—H. H. Batterbee.

Cheltenham.—F. H. B. Champain, T. C. Currie, and G. H. Tapsfield.

Christ's Hospital.—E. Buck.

Clifton.—R. A. Raven.

Eton.—Dr. C. H. Lloyd and T. F. Cattley.

Haileybury.—S. M. Toyne.

Lancing.—Rev. T. W. Cook.

Repton.—H. Vassall.

Rugby.—G. Hewlett and O. M. Samson.

Uppingham.—H. Puckle.

Wellington.—Rev. W. F. Brown.

H. W. Carter is at Duke's School, Alnwick.

F. T. Davies is at Horton School, Ickwell, Bury.

W. D. P. Jones and T. L. Sharp are at Colet House, Rhyl, North Wales.

C. K. Langley is at Little Haddon Court, East Barnet. He is also playing cricket for Warwickshire.

R. H. Lupton is teaching at Henley House, Frant, Sussex.

J. J. Penny is at St. Augustine's, Ramsgate.

L. Sadler is Physics Master at Bradford Grammar School.

E. J. Sonnenschein is at Borough Road College, Spring Grove, Isleworth.

MARRIAGES.

TOYNE—YOUNG.—On March 30th, at Hertford Heath, by the bridegroom's father, Stanley Mease Toyne, fourth child of Rev. Canon Toyne, Bournemouth, to Cecily, only child of Colonel Young, R.E. (retired), Haileybury College.

RHYS JONES—MERRIMAN.—At St. Luke's Church, Reigate, April 5th, by the Rev. Canon C. V. Merriman, Rector of St. Mary's, Hulme, Manchester, uncle of the bride, assisted by the Rev. John Worthington, Rector of North Lew, North Devon, uncle of the bridegroom, the Rev. Edward Rhys Jones, Rector of Mottingham, Eltham, to Florence Kathleen, younger daughter of George Langshaw Merriman, of Tremadoc, Reigate.

DEATHS.

We regret to announce the death of the Rev. H. E. Bowers, M.A., Dean of the Arkansas Theological College, U.S.A., Examining Chaplain to the Bishop of Arkansas, and Rector of Hope. The cause of death was valvular heart trouble, and, to relieve it, he was seeking rest at Santa Monica, California, where he passed peacefully away on Passion Sunday. He was an M.A. of Hertford College, Oxford, and was ordained priest by the Bishop of Central New York in 1892. He did much missionary work, and held many important rectories in Canada and the United States, and in appreciation of his work the honorary degrees of D.D. and LL.D. were conferred upon him by Rutherford and Cradock respectively. He was a brother of the Bishop of Thetford, and the Rev. William H. Bowers, of Holy Trinity, Sloane Square, S.W. He leaves a widow (but no children) to mourn his loss. R.I.P. —Extract from the 'Church Times,' March 24th, 1910.

The death is announced at Preston of the Rev. Edmund Dawson Banister, for ten years Vicar of St. George's, Preston. Mr. Banister relinquished the living in July last through ill-health. Educated at Magdalen Hall, Oxford, he held curacies at Brighouse, Blackburn, and Pilling, and afterwards was Vicar of Whitechapel, Lancashire.—Extract from the 'Morning Post,' March 29th, 1910.

Notice to Subscribers.

The Hertford College Magazine is published twice yearly, in May and November, price 1/-. The annual subscription is 2/2, post free, and should be sent to N. Whatley, Esq., Hon. Treasurer, Hertford College, Oxford.

The Editor will be glad to receive from subscribers news of the doings of former Hertford men, as it is hoped to make such news one of the most important parts of the Magazine.

Correspondence on matters of College interest will be welcomed.
