College Notes.

THE Summer Term has opened with a blaze of sunshine, which has been most welcome at this usually wintry season, and everything gives promise of a memorable and particularly busy Term. It seems almost a pity that it is to be shorn of three valuable days owing to the Coronation. [LECTOR.—Is there going to be any more about the Coronation? EDITOR.—No.] To all intents and purposes, Term will end on Wednesday, June 21st, and Commem. will begin on the following Monday.

It has been decided that, all things considered, it would be unwise to hold a College Ball this year, and instead thereof a Concert is to take place on the Tuesday in Eights' Week. The chief difficulty has been to discover a really suitable night. Monday was the original selection, but was abandoned owing to the Public Classical Concert being fixed for that date. Tuesday, the new date, is also, unfortunately, the occasion of several rival attractions, and it is very sincerely to be hoped that the College Concert will not be allowed to suffer from lack of support. The College has, perhaps, in the past barely done its duty in the matter of public entertainments, and it is all the more necessary that this new venture should receive encouragement, especially as it is to be a real College Concert in the sense that the talent will be mainly local.

The new Barge, of which we publish photographs, kindly taken for the occasion by G. H. King, has been moved into position just in time for the Eights, and we hope that in its early days it will be the headquarters of another such series of successes as followed on the advent of the old Barge in November, 1877. All the internal fittings cannot be completed until after Eights' Week, but enough has been done to enable the usual afternoon festivities to take place. The habitual critics, who were silent when suggestions were wanted for the design of the new Barge, have just spent a very enjoyable month in voicing all sorts of ingenious objections to the Barge as it now appears. But anyone who has ever used a Barge for more serious purposes than afternoon tea, will, we think, agree that the new Barge is as good a one as could possibly have been procured with the funds available, without sacrificing, as so many Barges possibly do, the needs of the oarsmen who use it regularly to the comforts of visitors who are only occasional, or to the aesthetic sensibilities of spectators who never use it at all. The architect is Mr. G. C. Drinkwater, late of Wadham, and we beg leave to congratulate him on the success of his efforts.

It is true that some of the critics based their gloomy views on prophecies the truth of which has not, at the time of writing, been ascertained. Those, for instance, who maintain that the good ship will turn turtle as soon as she has a crowd on board may yet live to enjoy the gloomy satisfaction of crying out 'I told you so' as they rise to the surface and are rescued by the Magdalen punt. We ourselves are content with one objection, and that a small one, namely, that the present staircase will be very unpopular with ladies..

It will interest many of our readers to know that the old Barge, though it is terminating its connection with the College, is not to be altogether lost to us. In future, pilgrims to the Free Ferry will, we are told, find the old thing entering on a new youth as a Boat House. The problem is, how to get it on land.

It is just thirty years since Hertford went Head of the River, and it is quite time for the position to be re-occupied. Hertford rowing has always been quixotic, and the College has done best when the worst was expected and vice versa. Also the Eight and the Torpid have moved quite independently of one another. Throughout the great period of Hertford rowing, the Torpid used to plough its weary way down near the tail of the river, and of the Eight which rose from fifth to Head, no fewer than five members had rowed only three months previously in the most ordinary of Torpids. It is also noticeable that our whiskered heroes of the early eighties were not ready-made oars from Eton, but enthusiasts who learnt their business in the hard nursery of Torpid fours or under the critical eye of Timms' predecessors.

For some years now the College has been undergoing a series of improvements in the matter of buildings. Just at present there is a pause: presumably the College treasury is being given a rest, which it has certainly earned. This gives us a chance of thinking quietly about the future, and there is still plenty to be done.

I. LITTLE THINGS.

- (a) We should like to see the flower-beds in the old quad fulfilling the ordinary purposes of flower-beds.
- (b) We should like to see the last of the bicycle-shed in the new quad. Someone else can suggest what is to be done with the bicycles.
- (c) We should like to find a much greater variety of edibles in the tea-room.

II. BIGGER THINGS.

- (a) We want more baths.
- (b) We should like to have a dry stance in the existing bathrooms.
- (c) Why not a College Gaudy?

III. BIG THINGS.

- (a) We have still no bridge.
- (b) If we maintain our present numbers, the sooner we begin to occupy Holywell the better.

It will take some time to carry out this little programme. We do not want to hustle anyone. But as soon as all this is ready we can suggest more (e.g. we should like a football ground of our own).

Elsewhere we publish a letter from a correspondent, who makes certain suggestions with regard to the Library. Among other things, he suggests the introduction of a Suggestion Book. Our own experience of Suggestion Books is that for the first few weeks of their existence they are crowded with the names of books inserted by passers-by, who may be in no need of any new literature, but who, seeing a new Suggestion Book, feel it their duty to suggest. After these few weeks, the Suggestion Book degenerates into a mere vehicle for rather inferior humour. A much more desirable and equally simple process is for anyone who really wants a book to send a note to that effect to the Librarian.

There is more in our correspondent's abrupt indication that he regards the stock of the Library as in many ways inadequate. There is no denying this. But it must be remembered that the income of the Library consists only of a small annual grant from the College, supplemented by such moneys as may from time to time be extracted from undergraduate members of the College by the Dean. Even of this small income a great part has to be devoted to the purchase of popular works and Schools' text-books, when it ought really to be available for buying expensive works of more permanent value. A simple solution is at hand, if only it could be set in motion. Most people celebrate the conclusion of their Final Schools by disposing of their Schools' books to the bookseller who makes the best bid. But one can probably raise as much money on twenty-five books as on twenty-six or twenty-seven, and if every member of the College, before going down, would present to the Library some book at present lacking, but usually consulted by readers of his School, the Library would shortly become much more useful to undergraduates, and at the same time the Librarian would have a great deal more money to devote to representative works. The gracious donors, too, while not suffering any appreciable loss, would feel that they were performing a worthy act, and were leaving something permanent behind them.

The Magazine provides a convenient means for thanking Mr. C. E. Haselfoot for his recent most munificent gift to the College Library, in the shape of a set of the new Cambridge University Press edition of the Encyclopædia Britannica, printed on India paper. It is interesting to note that important articles on 'Ethics' and 'Will' are contributed by a Fellow of Hertford, the Rev. H. H. Williams.

During the Vac. the Evening News contained an article on the College postage stamps for local service, which were regularly used in Oxford until an officious Government decided that the practice constituted an infringement of a State monopoly. Hertford employed stamps bearing the College crest, first issued in 1879, and we should like to get hold of some specimens.

It may be of interest to readers of the Magazine to know that in a recently-published book by the Rev. E. Hermitage Day, D.D., F.S.A.—Renaissance Architecture in England (in Mowbray's series of 'The Arts of the Church,' edited by the Rev. Percy Dearmer)—there appears an excellent photograph of the Chapel, with the following remark:—'Even those whose devotion to Gothic is beyond question, are ready to concede that the style which gives us such buildings as the new Chapel of Hertford College, Oxford, possesses a beauty, a dignity, and a fitness for use which we should be rash to criticize, and foolish to decline.'

We are very glad to be able to state that since our last number, the Tyndale Society has resumed its meetings, and an account of them will be found elsewhere. The meetings have not even terminated with the annual dinner, and we hope this means that the Society has entered upon a really palmy period.

In the Schools we did quite well last Term. The entry for Honour Mods. was the smallest on record, but of these, two obtained Firsts and the other two Seconds. In Pass Mods. the number of successes was unusually large, and vice versâ. We hope we shall be even more successful this Term.

The College may flatter itself on being increasingly well represented in the Varsity Athletic Clubs. I. P. F. Campbell obtained his Soccer Blue (on which many congratulations) in February last, and, from all accounts, played one of the best games on his side. He has since been elected Secretary of the O.U.A.F.C. for the ensuing season. J. F. Sidebotham played Lacrosse against Cambridge, and is Secretary for next year. H. McL. Bryan also played several games for the Varsity. H. C. Joyce was awarded his 'Occasionals' on the strength of playing Hockey many times for the Varsity last Term. R. D. Clarke ran as second string in the Mile at the University Sports in March; he also won the Half-mile v. the L.A.C. Turning to this Term's Cricket, G. T. Gravell played in the Seniors', and I. P. F. Campbell and B. J. Scott in the Freshmen's match: the former failed on this occasion, but made up for it by a grand innings of 92 in the Trial Match, and played in the Varsity's first match against Surrey. Congratulations to all three on being awarded their 'Authentics,' and to Campbell on his Blue and 'century' against Kent.

The Term is still young as we write, but the College seems to be prospering. The Eight has done one or two quite good things in practice, and the Cricket Eleven, when at full strength, must be the best we have had for some years. In military circles the Bourne Cup is being greatly sought after, and ought to be won.

Last Term the College put into the field its first Lacrosse team, selected after much strenuous practice in the new quad. Our special correspondent sends the following account from the scene of action:—

'Towards the close of last Term, seemingly to satisfy a grudge by means more dignified than the gloves, Hertford sent out a team of noble warriors, armed with lacrosse sticks, to contend against formidable rivals from Balliol. A mighty struggle followed, in which man met man and "crosse" met "crosse." The contest, signalized by deeds of special skill and boldness on both sides, ended in a draw with a score of two goals each. From the tangled mass of torn and bleeding remains at the close of play, the following college mates were identified: L. A. Russell, D. L. Russell, P. N. G. Fitzpatrick, A. Pigot, G. Perkins, T. T. Crooks, W. R. A. Wareing, W. F. Raney, H. M. Bryan, S. T. Mackie, and M. Hunnius. Next year the same men, with the aid of such other braves as prove themselves worthy, intend to contest for the Inter-collegiate Lacrosse Cup.'

This Term we welcome back the Rev. E. A. Burroughs, restored in health. We are also extremely glad to say that Mr. Haselfoot has entirely recovered from his illness of last Term. Mr. Bennett has given up his rooms in College, and is now making the Bath Club his headquarters.

We notice with interest and pleasure the appointment of the Rev. W. R. Inge, D.D., to be Dean of St. Paul's. Dr. Inge was a Fellow of Hertford from 1889—1904.

We congratulate R. Bevir on his election to the Presidency of the Union. We have not had a President from Hertford since 1904, when E. S. Jose occupied the chair.

Sermons have been preached in Chapel as follows:—

January 29th	The Chaplain.
February 19th	The Rev. W. J. Carey.
March 5th	The Rev. H. H. Williams.
May 7th	The Chaplain.

The Rev. W. J. Carey preached the University Sermon at St. Mary's on February 5th, and the Rev. J. McLeod Campbell has been appointed to preach the Assize Sermon on Wednesday, June 7th.

Open letters appeared in The Varsity to the Rev. W. J. Carey on February 16th, and to I. P. F. Campbell on March 16th. R. Bevir was idolized in The Isis of May 6th.

The College is sending a detachment in September to a hop farm at Peckham Bush, Paddock Wood, Kent. It is hoped that many members of the College will attend, if only for short periods. Expenses will be light and the work healthy. Application should be made to J. W. Rowlands, D. L. Russell, or R. L. Hardy.

The Society has met regularly throughout the last two Terms, and celebrated its 400th meeting by a very successful dinner, held, in conjunction with the Tyndale Society, on May 6th. At this dinner the toast of 'The Senior Common Room' was proposed by R. Bevir, and replied to by the Rev. H. H. Williams, while the toast of 'The Societies' was proposed by Mr. N. Whatley, and responded to by J. W. Rowlands and J. Grundy on behalf of the Shakespeare and Tyndale Societies respectively.

The last two Terms have seen a most welcome and successful revival of this ancient Society, and there seems every prospect of its retaining its former vigour.

The 323rd meeting took place on February 21st, the motion before the Society being 'That this House would welcome a European War,' introduced by J. H. Driberg, and opposed by R. C. L. Brandon. The following also spoke: J. Grundy, C. J. S. Wright, D. L. Russell, C. V. Salusbury, G. S. Fife, F. R. Doré, R. C. Giles, C. H. Payton, M. Hunnius, L. H. Farrer, R. C. H. Kingdon, P. N. Fitzpatrick, I. B. Maxwell. The motion was lost by 7 votes to 10.

The 324th meeting was held in the J.C.R. on March 14th, and thrown open to the College. G. M. Robertson introduced the motion, 'That the present Proctorial System is a degradation to the University.' R. Bevir opposed. The following also spoke: Mr. W. B. Riddell, Mr. N. Whatley, R. C. H. Kingdon, C. H. Payton, C. J. S. Wright, L. Hodgson, J. S. Yates, G. E. Owen, J. Grundy, G. S. Fife, the Rev. J. McL. Campbell, R. H. Gregory, R. W. Thornhill, H. M. Bryan, L. H. Farrer. The motion was carried by 15 to 11.

The 325th meeting was held on May 16th, the motion before the Society being 'That in the opinion of this House, some system of co-education would raise the educational standard in our Public Schools and Universities.' L. A. Frye introduced the motion, which was opposed by C. H. Payton. The following also spoke: G. M. Robertson, L. H. Farrer, G. S. Fife, D. L. Russell, J. Grundy, G. E. Owen. The motion was lost by 6 votes to 7.

The Society held its annual dinner, in conjunction with the Shakespeare Society, on May 6th.

Musical News.

On December 9th, 1910, a selection from Bach's Christmas Oratorio was given in Chapel, the soloists being Mr. Greaves Johnson, of St. Paul's Cathedral, and Mr. Charles Child, of Christ Church Cathedral. Dr. H. P. Allen, of New College, accompanied.

The same soloists again assisted at a selection from Bach's Passion (St. Matthew), on March 16th, Mr. Johnson and Mr. Child singing the parts of Christus and the Evangelist respectively: the organist was Mr. Henry Ley, of the Cathedral.

On both occasions our own organist conducted, and Mr. E. C. Marchant, of Lincoln, assisted as alto, and Mr. M. V. J. Nash, of Exeter, as tenor. The Chapel was quite full each time.

The selection from both works was considerably larger than that given last year, the most important addition being the first chorus of the Passion music—'Come, ye daughters'—the 'ripieno' being sung by six boys from the Cathedral choir, who also sang an aria, 'Have mercy upon me.'

The Eight's' Week Concert is fixed for Tuesday, May 30th.

HERTFORD DETACHMENT.

STRENGTH.—Under this heading—though why, it is not clear—we must first condole with ourselves on the loss of Colour-Sergt. Evan-Jones, whose success in the Schools has, since we last wrote in these columns, deprived us of an able leader, a military enthusiast, and a cheerful comrade. We wish him the prosperity he deserves and the bâton which is undoubtedly his due. But though he is gone, his spirit is still with us, and his inspiring letters shower upon us all the latest tips and dodges, with which we are to wash the eyes of inspecting officers.

Turning now to the question of our strength, we can congratulate ourselves on a still further rise in numbers, as well as on increased discipline and efficiency. The detachment now stands at 1 officer, 7 N.C.O.'s, and 35 men. The Cavalry is probably also increasing, but there is a mysterious secrecy about their organization which defies computation.

DRILL AND FIELD DAYS.—The attendance both at drills and field days has been quite satisfactory, and a great improvement on our past record. By drilling consistently all last Term and daily this Term, the Section has smartened up considerably, and we hope with confidence to make a good show on June 7th in the Bourne Cup Competition. It is satisfactory also to note that at the night operations last Term, in spite of lamentable weather, Hertford turned out the largest detachment on parade.

It is impossible to speak with any certainty about the part which we are to take at the Coronation, as nothing has yet been settled, but camp promises to be a great success this year as far as the detachment is concerned, since no fewer than twenty-seven members anticipate staying the whole time. This will be of the utmost value to the general smartness and homogeneous working of the section.

CERTIFICATES AND DISTINCTIONS.—In the examination last Term, Lance-Corpl. Payton and Cadet Perkins were the only members of our detachment to get Certificate 'A,' but a large number have entered this Term, both for 'A' and 'B,' and to them we offer our best wishes for success. Lance-Corpl. Mather is to be congratulated on being one of the Oxford representatives in the signalling competition against Cambridge.

A challenge cup, for which we have to thank the generosity of Lieut. N. Whatley, was won last Term by Cadet Marwood. The conditions are identical with the first part of class-firing. Cadet Marwood is further to be congratulated on being spare man for Oxford in the inter-Varsity signalling competition; also on obtaining second place in the Henderson Cup.

At the Special Course for the Officers' Training Corps at the School of Musketry, Hythe, April 4th—26th, 1911, Lieut. N. Whatley passed with distinctions.

Athletic Clubs.

HERTFORD COLLEGE BOAT CLUB.

Captain—R. BEVIR.

Hon. Secretary—C. J. S. WRIGHT.

The Torpid of 1911, if it is remembered, will be remembered by its misfortunes. Five possible candidates altogether were eliminated for one reason or another. At the end of the Michaelmas Term considerable promise was shown, and in spite of the retirement of de Blaby with a 'heart,' good progress was made at the beginning of the next Term. About ten days before the races the boat was travelling well and looked like being quite good, when Fitzpatrick had to retire under doctor's orders. They never really recovered their equilibrium or their rhythm, and it was obvious that the loss of power on stroke side was a serious handicap. However, even then they were probably faster than most of the boats near them. The first two days they rowed over easily; on the Friday they were able to paddle most of the way, luckily, for two of the crew were seedy. On the Saturday, Hamilton had to retire with 'flu,' and a crippled boat was bumped by New College II after most pluckily struggling to the Boat House. Monday was another easy day; and Hamilton came back on Tuesday, when they were again able to paddle most of the way. On the Wednesday they had Keble in front and Lincoln behind, both of whom had had a so far unbroken series of changes, the one downwards, the other upwards. It was considered an open question whether Lincoln would catch us before we caught Keble. But that question was settled almost as soon as the gun went. Hertford went off at a tremendous speed, meaning to catch Keble, which they did by the Free Ferry, with Lincoln 'nowhere in it.' Smith stroked pluckily throughout and with good judgment. He was well backed up by Ward and Hamilton. Vaughan rowed best when he took Hamilton's place at 5. He improved beyond recognition in practice. Watkins and Brett both kept some life in the bows. The others did their best. A word should be said, too, for Bleckly, who came in for two days' racing under difficult circumstances, and acquitted himself most creditably. The main faults were a tendency to hang, and too slow a beginning. Both of these are faithfully reproduced in the Eight.

NAMES AND WEIGHTS..

It is dangerous to prophesy about the Eights before the event. Critics once more are very favourable; they usually are. We hope that this time they will be right. A rise in Eights would be a fitting accompaniment to the advent of the new Barge, which is worthy of an Eight rather higher on the river. At present the order is—

Bow. J. C. Williams Vaughan.
 2. C. J. S. Wright.
 3. W. W. Ward.
 4. C. H. Payton.
 5. R. C. H. Kingdon.
 6. K. T. Hamilton.
 7. C. V. Salusbury.
 Str. J. E. Smith.
 Cox. R. P. Pridham.

They have improved much during the Term, owing in a great measure to the excellent start they got in the hands of the old Hertford Blue, Mr. Buck. They are still apt to get short at both ends of their stroke, but their greatest fault is a tendency to brood over difficulties instead of making up their minds to surmount them. If they can race, they will go up.

HERTFORD COLLEGE RUGBY FOOTBALL CLUB.

SEASON 1910-11.

Captain—G. T. GRAVELL.

Hon. Secretary—W. E. RHYDDERCH.

TEAM.—Back, N. F. H. Mather; three-quarters, F. R. Doré, R. W. Thornhill, G. T. Gravel, W. E. Rhydderch; halves, E. S. Wood, H. H. Watkins; forwards, E. H. Woodward, G. T. Garratt, J. H. Driberg, L. Hodgson, J. S. Yates, D. L. Russell, N. G. Fitzpatrick, R. H. Gregory, W. R. A. Wareing.

Also played.—T. L. Tanner, T. K. E. Batterbury, T. T. Crooks, R. L. Hardy, M. Hunnius, H. G. Hawkins, H. C. Perrott, W. B. Brett.

There always seems a fatality about the Rugger of the Hilary Term: most of the matches are scratched, and the team is nearly always depleted by injuries and rowing; and this was particularly the case with the Hertford team last Term. What promised to be a good season degenerated into one rather below the average. And though, as far as points for and against go, we have nothing much of which we need be really ashamed, still the balance is on the wrong side. The most depressing feature was the lack of enthusiasm, which resulted in a series of matches just lost, which might have been just won: the team seemed completely demoralized by the loss of Gravell through injuries, and of Watkins and Fitzpatrick through rowing.

The weakness of the side was the lack of backs, and of combination among those who played. The forwards, though very dashing for the first half of matches, tired very quickly on receiving no encouragement from the 'threes,' whose defence was not of the best.

The prospects for next season, however, seem less dark than they might, as we hope to welcome back Gravell and Fitzpatrick to permanent places in the team.

HERTFORD COLLEGE ASSOCIATION FOOTBALL CLUB.

SEASON 1910-II.

Captain—C. H. PAYTON.

Hon. Secretary—R. C. H. KINGDON.

TEAM.—Goal, B. J. Scott; backs, J. Grundy, E. W. Carroll; halves, H. C. Joyce, I. P. F. Campbell, W. E. Rhydderch; forwards, G. E. Owen, C. V. Salusbury, C. H. Payton, A. L. Brodrick, R. C. H. Kingdon.

Also played.—R. Bevir, R. C. Giles, A. Pigot, R. L. Hardy, D. L. Russell, L. A. Russell, J. F. Sidebotham, N. F. H. Mather, E. W. Tetley, etc.

The Club's record throughout was a marked improvement on that of previous seasons; and at no time was this more noticeable than in the Hilary Term, when not a single match was lost. The season, however, ended most disappointingly with two drawn matches, against Pembroke and Worcester: drawing instead of winning these matches left the Club at the top of the Third Division of the League instead of promoting it to the Second. It is much to be hoped that next year's Freshmen will provide the Club with plenty of new material to take the place of some of the old which will be no longer available: otherwise there seems little hope of the Club making any considerable advance and attaining a rather less inglorious position in the League. The Secretary thinks the prospects for next season either moderately lurid or luridly moderate: at the time of going to press he had not quite made up his mind which.

To mention a few of the players individually, Payton was, as ever, hardworking and enthusiastic, while Kingdon lumbered down the wing with very fair success, but often showed an interesting tendency to fall over himself. Campbell, when able to play, was a veritable tower of strength to the side: we are very proud of his achievements for the Varsity, but what was Oxford's gain was very undeniably Hertford's loss. He and Grundy, whose spider-like tactics were as ever both beautiful and useful, certainly did not fall short in keeping up the honour of Repton. Scott proved most able in goal, and amply replaces our loss in Bevir, who was very rarely able to turn out. Owen would be quite good if he could learn to centre rather more quickly. Rhydderch and Carroll played thoroughly sound games.

Officers for next season have been elected, as follows:—

Captain—R. C. H. KINGDON.

Hon. Secretary—I. P. F. CAMPBELL.

Assistant Hon. Secretary—B. J. SCOTT.

HERTFORD COLLEGE HOCKEY CLUB.

SEASON 1910-11.

Captain—H. C. JOYCE.

Hon. Secretary—J. F. THORNHILL.

TEAM.—Goal, F. C. T. Woodhead; backs, E. W. Carroll, B. J. Scott; half-backs, H. H. Watkins, H. C. Joyce, H. G. Hawkins; forwards, C. H. Payton, R. W. Thornhill, I. P. F. Campbell, J. F. Thornhill, J. W. Rowlands.

Also played.—F. R. Doré, W. E. Price, J. F. Sidebotham, N. Cardwell, J. H. Driberg, E. H. H. Woodward, A. B. P. Woodd, H. M. Blackett, R. P. Pridham, L. A. Russell, D. L. Russell, A. Pigot, M. Hunnius.

Taking the season as a whole, we may call it very fairly satisfactory. The total number of wins is in excess of previous years, and if our strongest team had been more often available, our results would have been better still. In both of our matches away from Oxford—those against Stratford-on-Avon and Reading—we were successful, and we also gained overwhelming victories at the expense of Corpus, Pembroke, O.U.H.C. Squash, and Magdalen 'A.' Though well supplied with backs, we often had great difficulty in getting together an adequate forward line. The frequent changes necessitated by the absence of some of the regular players tended materially to weaken a team otherwise above the average.

Turning to individual members, Joyce, when his services were not required by the Varsity, added greatly to the strength of our defence. In Carroll and Scott we possess two really good backs. We hope that the latter's abilities will be recognized by those in authority next year. Watkins was always clever and energetic at half, but rowing claimed him during the Hilary Term. His back-stick play was particularly conspicuous. Hawkins, one of the keenest members of the team, was always a persevering half, and played some good games at centre-forward. Campbell, when he was able to play, showed what an acquisition his services would have been in this position. The Thornhills filled the inside positions satisfactorily, and proved themselves the main goal-getters of the side, though they showed a mutual tendency to pass too much to each other, somewhat to the neglect of their wings. Rowlands and Payton played some good games. Woodhead was variable: while stopping many really hard shots, he was remarkably skilful in letting through the easy ones. Doré proved an able substitute at back, and Price, who played in most of the games, was very painstaking, and ought to be useful next year. Of the less regular players, Cardwell and Sidebotham showed distinct promise, while opponents found Driberg no mean obstacle to brush aside.

The prospects for next season are distinctly encouraging, as most of the team will still be up.

HERTFORD COLLEGE ATHLETIC CLUB.

Hon. Secretary—R. L. HARDY.

The Club's achievements in last Term's Inter-College Relay Race were much better than those of last year, as we penetrated as far as the semi-finals, in spite of the fact that we could not call upon our strongest team, both Doré and Gravell being unable to run. In the first round we beat Oriel fairly easily (time, 4 mins. 21 secs.); in the second we just managed to defeat Keble (time, 4 mins. 19 secs.), but Pembroke were too good for us in the semi-final, which, by the way, was run in a snow-storm (time, 4 mins. 23 secs.).

TEAM.—R. W. Thornhill, 220 yards.
 E. S. Wood, 220 yards.
 R. L. Hardy, 440 yards.
 F. W. Raney, 220 yards.
 R. D. Clarke, 880 yards.

Also ran.—B. J. Scott, 220 yards.

HERTFORD COLLEGE CRICKET CLUB.

Captain—J. W. ROWLANDS.Hon. Secretary—F. R. DORÉ.

The prospects for the season just entered upon are considerably brighter than those of the last few years. The side seems more even throughout, every man being, at any rate, capable of making runs. At present we have won three matches and lost two, our wins being at the expense of Wadham, Pembroke and Corpus. The bowling is the weakest department: we are very short of good change bowlers, and the loss of Gravell, owing to injury, will be felt very much, especially when the hard wickets come. Although it is early yet to have a definite eleven, we may safely say that it will be chosen from the following:—J. W. Rowlands, F. R. Doré, G. T. Gravell, I. P. F. Campbell, B. J. Scott, R. W. Thornhill, J. F. Thornhill, R. Birkett, N. Cardwell, E. W. Tetley, H. C. B. Jollye, H. G. Hawkins, W. E. H. Rhydderch.

As regards the second eleven, although the scheme mentioned in the last issue of the Magazine has not matured at present, there seems a good prospect of it being realized next year, as the College has at last succeeded in turning out a genuine second eleven, which has done quite creditably.

HERTFORD COLLEGE LAWN TENNIS CLUB.

Captain—G. T. GARRATT.Hon. Secretary—F. C. LIGHT.Acting Hon. Secretary—E. A. SELKE.

Whether due to a tardy realization of the condition of the Hertford College Tennis Courts or not, most of our matches this Term have been scratched by our opponents. The Six are therefore congratulating themselves upon a season thus far more than ordinarily successful.

Interest in the Singles Competition for the Principal's Medal, as evidenced by the number of entries, has been no less remarkable than embarrassing to the officials. For the Doubles Competition must also be played off before the end of Term, although an entrance fee of 2/6 will doubtless damp the ardour for further honours of many an aspirant for a medal. The entries in this competition have hitherto been paired off by lot, but this year it will probably be decided that pairs should enter as such, and then be handicapped. Already most of the College seem to be playing with the idea in view of securing as small a handicap as possible from an observant secretary. At any rate, the handicap will be allotted strictly on the principle of res ipsa loquitur.

OBITUARY.

D. E. BROWN.—On November 20th, 1910. D. E. Brown was Captain of the Hertford Eight of 1881, which went Head of the River. He rowed two, six, and seven in the victorious Oxford crews of 1880, 1881, and 1882, and at Henley, rowing for Hertford, he won the Stewards' Fours in 1881 and 1882, and the Goblets in 1882, while, rowing for Twickenham, he again won the Goblets in 1883 and 1884. He assisted Oxford to win the Coxswainless Fours at Oxford in 1879 and 1881, and perhaps the latter of these was his finest performance, as he only came into the boat two days before the race. Brown was at New College before he won a Scholarship at Hertford.

J. M. HODGE.—From The Guardian, March 24th, 1911: 'The death is announced of the Rev. J. M. Hodge, Vicar of St. Luke's, Plymouth. He graduated from Hertford College, Oxford, in 1870, and was ordained in 1872 to the curacy of St. Andrew's, Plymouth. In 1875 he became Curate of St. Andrew's Chapel (now St. Catharine's), Plymouth, and was afterwards Curate of Egg Buckland, with charge of the Crabtree Mission Church, Curate of Emmanuel, with special charge of the Compton Mission, and Curate of St. George's, Stonehouse. He also served for many years as Chaplain at the cemetery. In 1909 he was appointed Vicar of St. Luke's, Plymouth, where he did strenuous work.'

F. C. MALLINSON.—In Canada.

YACHTING.

We have received the following:—

Mr. C. C. Lynam (Hertford College, 1879—1883), Headmaster of the Oxford Preparatory School, left Lerwick, Shetland, in his twelve-ton yacht, Blue Dragon II, on April 7th, at noon. His crew consisted of four Old Boys, T. O. Thompson (St. John's College), H. White (Malvern), L. J. Maclean (Fettes), J. Day (Repton)—no 'paid hands.' The wind was northerly and had been in that quarter for about ten days, so there was a heavy beam sea. The log was set at 1.20 p.m., on passing Bressay Lighthouse. The only vessels seen on the passage were a few trawlers about fifty miles out. The course was E. by S. $\frac{1}{2}$ S. It was very cold, the breeze was strong, and the decks were constantly under water. Cooking was impossible, but there was plenty of cold provender for those who could enjoy it! We reefed down at night, and put her north of her course, so as to make things more comfortable below, taking the seas on the port bow. About 1 a.m. on the 8th the mainsheet carried away, and the skipper had to call up the crew from their bunks to replace a shackle. At 2 a.m. on Sunday, the 9th, two lights were made out, and after prolonged search in sailing directions and charts, the skipper made them out to be Skarvö and Greiping—two small fishing lights on Toftö. We were expecting to see the big lights of Hellisö, Marsten, or Slotterö; but the two we found were exactly in a line between Lerwick and Bergen, so we could not have made a more accurate landfall. At 4 a.m. we anchored in a little bight for a good feed and a sleep, and at 4 p.m. we made Bergen, passing through the narrow Raugnö Sund into the Inner Lead. It blew very hard indeed in the afternoon, and we were glad to be out of the North Sea. The Sailing Directions say that a pilot must be signalled for when near the coast, but we managed quite well with the charts, and took no pilot during the whole cruise. At Bergen we found the Harbour Master and Customs Officers most friendly, and no charge was made anywhere for harbour dues or customs. We logged 178 miles across the North Sea, and the time taken from anchorage to anchorage was forty hours. After leaving Bergen, we sailed south, anchoring at Lönningshavn, Limevaag, Fane, Kalsund, Rubbestadnaes, Lervik, Uskedal, Rosendal (in the Hardanger Fiord), Jondal, Norheim Sund, Eide, Aalvik, Geirmundshavn, through Lok Sund and the Biorns Fiord to Sund, and back to Bergen, where we found (through the Principal's recommendation) a most capable man to look after the yacht till we go back in the summer. A better time than April for seeing the magnificent scenery of the Hardanger could hardly be imagined. The snow on the mountains came down to the water's edge, the waterfalls were splendid, the atmospheric effects perfectly magnificent. The weather was quite good—sun and occasional showers, winds very variable, the air warm, but the water very cold (we bathed every morning). At Eide we walked by the side of the frozen Gravensvand in the evening, and next morning bathed amongst ice-floes rolled down by the thundering river. We found the Norwegian peasants everywhere perfectly delightful. The skipper had had a few lessons in the language before starting, and aired his Norsk on every possible occasion. Crowds of children visited the Blue Dragon, and were entertained with cakes, sweets, and the gramophone. Many photographs were taken of groups, and addresses carefully recorded. The fisher peasants are far better off than those in Shetland or the Hebrides; the Radical skipper puts this down to the absence of landlordism and its attendant evils.

We usually looked out an anchorage near to which there was a river marked on the chart, and Thompson caught altogether about one hundred brown and sea trout, which regularly provided us with excellent breakfast. The bread, cakes, eggs and milk of the country were of the best. During the last few days we had very little wind, and the small auxiliary 5 h.p. motor was called into requisition. It takes us along in a calm at about three knots. One day we ran short of oil, but fortunately we saw a motor fishing boat coming towards us, so the skipper went off in the dinghy and begged in his best Norwegian (possibly holding up an empty can helped the natives to understand him). At all events, our wants were willingly supplied. We look forward eagerly to returning to those delightful waters. If only our Term ended with the Varsity Term!

Correspondence.

To the Editor of the HERTFORD COLLEGE MAGAZINE.

SIR,—Why should the authorities not be agitated? Why is there not a Suggestion Book in the Library? We do need some ash-trays, not to mention a book or two.

Why is a thick composition of Oxfordshire mud and Corporation water necessary for the bath-rooms? A wooden platform would much improve matters.

Yours peevishly,

INFANS.

To the Editor of the HERTFORD COLLEGE MAGAZINE.

DEAR SIR,—Is it only an idle rumour that we are to have baths in the Old Buildings? The 'great unwashed' are clamouring for them, and holding up their hands in supplication: may those in authority soon grant them their wish! Surely, at no great expense, the cellars underneath Staircase I could be put to this use, and a lasting benefit thereby conferred on so large a portion of the College. Give us the baths we need, and we shall be grateful (to say nothing of clean) ever after.

Yours, etc.,

ONE OF THE UNCLEAN.

To the Editor of the HERTFORD COLLEGE MAGAZINE.

SIR,—Could not something be instituted in the nature of a Founder's Day or Commemoration of Benefactors? With a history dating back to 1282, we surely ought to do something by way of recognizing, and showing, that we have a record of antiquity inferior to that of few Colleges in the University.

Yours, etc.,
