Dear Hertford Community,

This is shaping up to be an extraordinary term. The ‘EMPower Oxford’ group of Year 10s who stayed with us over the vacation have had a fascinating life. A cast of former JCR Presidents took part in this moving rendition of John Donne’s ‘A Lecture Upon the Shadow’. Katherine Rundell’s accessible biography, Super-Infinite, of his ‘A Lecture Upon the Shadow’. You can hear Emma talking about her book on the Oxford English Dictionary and its first edition in The Weston Library on 15 May.

The centrepiece of our 2030 efforts will be the launch of our new library reading room below the quad. MICA Architects’ plans for the new library reading room below the quad. The ‘EMPower Oxford’ group of Year 10s who stayed with us over the vacation have had a fascinating life. A cast of former JCR Presidents took part in this moving rendition of John Donne’s ‘A Lecture Upon the Shadow’. Katherine Rundell’s accessible biography, Super-Infinite, of his ‘A Lecture Upon the Shadow’. You can hear Emma talking about her book on the Oxford English Dictionary and its first edition in The Weston Library on 15 May.

See from our editors, co-curated by Charlotte Brewer.

Readers

Read More

By Lauren Murrell (Geography, 2006)

From cancer to cosmetics

By John Millard (English, 1985)

Why short stories are precious

Read More

By John Millard (English, 1985)

Why short stories are precious

Read More

By John Millard (English, 1985)

Why short stories are precious

Read More

By John Millard (English, 1985)

Why short stories are precious

Read More

By John Millard (English, 1985)

Why short stories are precious

Read More

By John Millard (English, 1985)

Why short stories are precious

Read More

By John Millard (English, 1985)

Why short stories are precious

Read More

By John Millard (English, 1985)

Why short stories are precious

Read More

By John Millard (English, 1985)

Why short stories are precious

Read More

By John Millard (English, 1985)

Why short stories are precious